A Word with the People.

The signal vote by which the House of Representatives have passed the bill for negro suffrage in the District of Columbia, as opposed to the decidedly expressed will of the people of the District, and to the well-known views of the President of the United States as to popular government, is evidence that the time has come for the constituents of these Representatives, in some unmistakable form, to make known their will on the great question of restoration. All the politicians, (with but few exceptions,) when appealing to the people, claim to be the friends of the President and his policy. But the policy of the President is obstructed and delayed by the hindrances put in its way by a majority in Congress in the form of an inquisitorial committee, and a direct issue was made with a marked feature in his policy in the House when it disregarded the unanimously expressed wish of the people of this District, when it ignored the right of the people to self-government in its passage of the negro suffrage bill.

It is plain that the President cannot forward his policy unless the majority shall recede in Congress, and we know of no solution of the difficulty into which Congress has involved the great question before it, unless the people everywhere, through their voice spoken in primary assemblages, shall instruct their servants as to their will in the premises.

1. Why might not the masses of the people, then, calmly and without passion, who would themselves be willing that negro suffrage should be forced upon them by the power of the Government against their will, as expressed at the ballot-box—why might not these properly assemble and sustain the action of the House of Representatives in its course towards the people of the District of Columbia, who, as American citizens, have almost unanimously voted against negro suffrage? And let those who wish to be treated as they would be done by, and who desire to uphold popular government as opposed to oligarchical and class legislation, express their dissatisfaction with the imperial power that the House majority has asserted over the citizens of this District.

2. Why may not the masses well speak out on the reference made of the whole question of restoration to the anomalous and inquisitorial committee of the House of Representatives? Let us understand why it is that duly returned members from the South cannot be received, cannot have their credentials examined, and their individual cases decided, each on its merits, by the usual forms of Congress, under the hypothesis that the Union is inviolate and inviolable, instead of being treated, as they are, on the Stevens theory, that the South is a conquered province, and as such, that it has no representative rights! Why is it not fit that the people themselves shall say how far they feel willing to trust the South in its struggle for restoration, and how far they approve the restoration policy of the President, liberal yet cautious, fraternal yet firm, and consistent and legal, as it has been from the beginning?

The President is quite as near a representative of the people as is a member of Congress, and on the popular wisdom and virtue our whole fabric of government reposes. It seems, therefore, to us, fit and timely that the voice of the people shall be heard on these questions, and without delay, from every State in the Union. Time presses. Procrastination is full of dangers, the mere contemplation of which is fearful.

Party antecedents have nothing to do with the existing crisis. We are on ground entirely new and different from that on which the war majority in Congress were elected, when the momentum of the rebellion concentrated the people on the single idea of an overwhelming and unflagging war for the sake of peace and Union. The question now is, Shall we crumble to pieces and become the prey of faction and bankruptcy, in a period of profound peace, to gratify the expediency men of mere political party?

It seems to us that the President needs the sympathy and support of the masses of the people, to be expressed and outspoken, whether for or against his policy; whether for or against the hypothesis of the majority in Congress. The nation cannot afford to drift along until cliques of politicians shall squander the patronage of the Government in effect to produce our downfall through the silent agency of decentralization and political demoralization.

What will be the effect upon the nation if this long session of Congress shall be frittered away without achieving restoration? What of the national finances and credit? What of values, real and fictitious? What will be the condition of internal commerce, of labor and its reward? What of the prestige of the country, now almost re-established? We have no heart to dwell upon this picture.

And is there not imminent danger that every evil that approaches anarchy is threatened us under the auspices of a Congressional majority who, not content with the glories of emancipation, seem now resolved on forcing negro equality, and such practical disunion as flows from the policy that proceeds on the fiction that the Union does not exist, but that it is to be reconstructed in some far and doubtful future? As it strikes us, the people are called on to speak out promptly and calmly on the direct issues of the hour.—National Intelligencer.

HIGH LIFE IN WASHINGTON.—All accounts represent that the Yankee capital was never in such a blaze of gayety as it is this winter. The reception at the Executive Mansion on last Wednesday night is described as the most brilliant ever seen. Among those present were the Ministers from England, France, Russia, Prussia, the Netherlands, and the other members of the diplomatic corps.

About nine o'clock the President joined his daughters in the drawing-room, and received the salutations of the crowd. The toilets were in many instances superb.

Post Offices in The South.

By an official statement from Washington we learn that Postmaster General Dennison, during the month of December, caused post-offices to be re-opened as follows: In Virginia, 36; West Virginia, 4; North Carolina, 16; South Carolina, 2; Louisiana, 16; Georgia, 57; Tennessee, 19. Total, 181.

Since the 1st of January, a very large number have been re-opened in Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas, and other States.

A letter from Mississipi says the Government cotton recently destroyed in that State was burned by agents, who, having stolen a portion of that in their charge, fired the rest to destroy proof of their guilt.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

THE firm heretofore known as that of Baker, Cowper & Co has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. The duties devolving on one of the Partners as Cashier of the Bank of Cape Fear, and the removal of the other to Norfolk (his residence before the war) for the purpose of practicing law, have caused this dissolution. The business will be continued by Mr. Pulaski Cowper and Mr James A Moore, late Teller of the Bank of Cape Fear under the name and style of Cowper & Moore, who will settle up the business of Baker, Cowper & Co.

HAMPSHIRE COAL.

CARGO OF 275 TONS HAMPSHIRE COAL daily expected from Baltimore.

This coal is bituminous, and perhaps the best coal known for steam purposes whether for locomotives or steamboats. It is used almost exclusively by Northern railroad companies and the Cunard Steamers. It is also represented as the best blacksmith's coal in the country and is very extensively used in iron works for forging, etc. It is soft and friable, the fine coal being as good for use as the lump.

The attention of railroad companies, iron work and machine shops, is particularly invited to the importance of a trial of this coal.

The undersigned having been appointed agent for the Hampshire and Baltimore Coal Company, will be prepared to furnish any quantity required, at a reasonable price.

Orders respectfully solicited.

Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

OR

BONE MANURE.

WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although unsolicited at half the price.

Messrs R H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. P Coe's Super Phosphate of Lime for four years It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,

"R H. ALLEN & CO.,

IMPORTANT SALE.

ON WEDNESDAY, THE 24TH OF JANUARY, 1866 I shall offer for sale my plantation in Bertie County, lying on the south side of the river three miles from Hills Ferry on said river and six from the village of Woodville in said County containing 900 acres, more or less; 300 are cleared and well adapted to the growth of cotton or wheat, &c.

There is a very fine opportunity to make a large crop on the place for the next year as there is compost enough ready made to manure nearly 100 acres. The place can made 150 to 200 pounds of cotton and 1000 bushels of corn; and with proper management will do better after the first year, as the most of the cotton land has had rest for the past two years. A very great advantage which this farm has is its convenience to transportation being only one mile to a good landing on the river where there is a large line of steamers to Norfolk weekly. In addition to the above this is the most desirable farm in this portion of the county that has fire wood enough in convenient for use; there is an abundance of pine timber of almost every kind cypress white oak, ash, gum &c. I take this method to remind the public that below the day of sale

There is about 600 acres on this tract cleared, which affords fine range for hogs and a free access to numerous acres of woodland which renders it very profitable for the raising of cattle, mules &c.

The improvements consist of a gin house and cotton screw overseer house cabins enough for 25 or 30 laborers, corn barns &c. At the same time and place, I shall sell 200 or 300 barrels of corn, fodder, mules, horses, hogs, farming utensils &c.

Terms for the land one third cash, the balance in two equal instalments, payable respectively in 12 and 18 months, and title withheld until payments made. For cheaper and more valuable property, cash.

For any further particulars, address the subscriber at Enfield Halifax County, N.

Cotton Culture.

The kingly character of Cotton, though much ridiculed and abused during the war, and declared to be without claim, recent developments seem likely to demonstrate to the satisfaction of all objectors.

It had become so essential an element in the commerce of the world, that our Southern political economists, especially, based great reliance upon its potency, in delaying if not totally preventing the late disastrous and unnecessary war. Had both the North and the South taken counsel from the teachings of the thoughtful statesman and political economist, that untoward catastrophe would never have come. But men never reason when they are mad or crazy. It now turns out that Cotton was King—that it in a great measure ruled the commerce of the world, yet the King was impotent when the nation became drunk with fanaticism on the one hand, and fevered excitement on the other.

The calculation is, at present, that the supply of cotton for the present year will be so short, that by the time the next crop begins to come in, the price must be $1 per pound. This opinion appears to be based upon known facts, and may possibly be correct. If so, in the midst of the anxieties felt by our people in regard to the future, does not this open to their enterprise a door which promises relief?

Perhaps one sixth of the arable land of the State, will produce cotton kindly. The plant may be seeded as late as the first of May, with the prospect of a good crop. Earlier, of course, would do better, but we make the suggestion to show, that even now, and through the next month, preparations might be safely entered into for the purpose of making a crop. Good cotton lands are still abundant in the State. Much of it will possibly fall of cultivation, for the want of capital and hands. Young men therefore, who find it difficult to find employment in mercantile or other business, might engage successfully in planting, if they have sufficient credit to obtain capital and labor.

The prospect, however, of the high price of cotton suggests a very important difficulty which may arise. The failure to cultivate breadstuffs &c., sufficient for the use of every farm, would be attended by serious consequences. We can scarcely imagine such a state of prosperity in the culture of cotton, as would obviate the necessity for the production of food sufficient for home consumption. Wherever it has been tried, it has been found to work badly in the course of a few years.

Our suggestions, however, in regard to the culture of cotton, are only made for the present, as a means of speedy recovery from our present thriftless condition. The future, we confess, does not promise to our mind, that the culture of cotton can ever be brought up in the South to equal the past. The knell of African slavery in the South, in our judgment, doomed cotton as King. The plant will of course be cultivated, but never again can it hold the power it has heretofore wielded over the commerce of the world. Cotton, rice and sugar require well directed slave labor in order to their cheap and plentiful production. Hence, we regard the destruction of slavery, as the certain precursor of decline in the production of cotton, rice and sugar in the Southern States.

"Nameless."

The publishers, Messrs. W. B. Smith & Co., of this city, have sent us a copy of the second edition of this popular North Carolina book. It seems to be gotten up in better style than the first, and we hope, for the sake of its accomplished author, will meet with a ready sale.

We have from the same publishers a small work by Capt. J. C. G giving a brief but graphic account of the last days of Gen. Lee's army and its surrender. Every one will be interested in its perusal. We recollect, during the war, that the most pernicious and interesting details of particular battles, which we saw published were from the pen of Capt. J. C. GORMAN, now of this city.

The Mails.

Our last article on the mails, drew from Mr Vassall, the general postal Agent of the State and the Postmaster at Newbern, letters to the Editors, assuring us that the fault of the failure of the newspapers did not lie all against the Postmasters, route agents, &c., but that a good portion of it was chargable to the publishers, whose mailing clerks were frequently very careless in directing papers and using lead pencil which became easily defaced, and hence, papers were often not delivered. We are glad we wrote the article, because it assures us that, at least, the authors of these letters are awake to their duty, and because they remind us of our own delinquency. We at once ordered that the Sentinel should hereafter be directed in ink. We hope our cotemporaries will generally take the hint.

Mrs. Gen. T. J. Jackson having been for some time in Virginia and in Richmond, it will be an accommodation to her friends and correspondents to state that letters will now reach her, addressed to the care of J. P. Irwin, Esq., Charlotte, N. C.

A Book for Every Lawyer.

We are much indebted to John Livingston, Esq., of the New York bar, for a nicely bound copy of "the Official Directory and Law Register for the United States, for the year 1866," of which he is editor and publisher.

It is a work which every lawyer should have convenient for reference. It contains the name and residence, or post-office, of every lawyer in the United States, i. e. it is designed to contain all, but it is possible that some have been omitted. In the Southern States especially, at present, the lists must be incomplete, and it becomes the profession to furnish Mr. Livingston with the material to correct future editions of the work.

We find, from a very cursory examination, the following interesting facts: There is given in his work the names and residences of 29,148 lawyers in the United States and territories. Some of these are either on the bench, have retired or died, and the editor fixes the number of practicing lawyers in the United States, at the present time, so far as he has learned, at 26,971. In the city of New York, alone, there are 3,186 lawyers, and he has given their names and the No. of the streets at which each lawyer may be found. In North Carolina he gives 356 lawyers as the number, which we judge falls short of the truth. There are a number of errors in relation to the lawyers of this State, which we hope some member of the profession will enable the editor to correct in future. He gives the following as the number in all the States and Territories:

Alabama 286, Arkansas 183, California 771; Connecticut 390, Delaware 77, Florida 78, Georgia 562, Illinois 1805, Indiana 1283, Iowa 842, Kansas 213, Kentucky 991, Louisiana 164, Maine 569, Maryland 582, Massachusetts 1296, Michigan 777, Minnesota, 305, Mississippi 265, Missouri 778, Nevada 40, New Hampshire 307, New Jersey 415, New York 6769, North Carolina 356, Ohio 2043, Oregon 106, Pennsylvania 2630, Rhode Island 117, South Carolina 405, Tennessee 723, Texas (incomplete) 145, Vermont 299, Virginia 771, West Virginia 239, Wisconsin 713.

The work is well gotten up: it is published by subscription at No. 128 Broadway, New York, at $5 00. A specimen copy can be seen at our office by all who desire it.

The Horse Question Again.

A number of persons having had their unbranded horses taken from them by the collecting agents, and not knowing how to proceed to regain them, have appealed to Gov. Worth to ascertain the proper course; he referred the matter to Gen. Ruger and received the following answer in reply:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA
Raleigh, N. C., Jan 22, 1866.

GOVERNOR —Referring to your letter of this date, in relation to unbranded animals taken from the holders and now in possession of the collecting officers, I am directed by the commanding General to inform you, that Quartermasters will hold in their possession all such animals until the claimants can forward to these Headquarters affidavits and such other evidence as they may have, to substantiate their claims, when a final decision will be made on each case.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your Excellency's obedient servant,

J. A. CAMPBELL,
A. A. General.

To His Excellency, JONATHAN WORTH, Governor of N. C., Raleigh N. C.

All persons in possession of horses or mules rightfully, must have some evidence substantiating their claim. In all cases, therefore, in which the animals in their possession have been claimed by the government, the party from whom the animal is taken should produce that evidence, whether it be their own affidavit or evidence of other kind, and have it verified by some officer, a clerk of the County Court, Justice of the Peace or Notary Public, and, if possible, obtain the County seal thereto, and have the papers laid before Gen. Ruger at the earliest period.

The Old Guard.

This monthly, issued from the press of Messrs. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., New York, and edited by C. Chauncy Burr, Esq., is very popular in the South, and has much real merit. We learn that our townswoman, Mrs. Wm. J. Clarke, has engaged to contribute regularly to its pages. It is published at 162 Nassau street, at $3 a year or 25 cts. per number. Subscriptions will be received in this city at the store of Clarke Brothers, on Hargett street.

Death of Lt. Col. Coolidge.

The following General Order was issued on yesterday from Headquarters.

HEADQ'RS. DEPARTMENT OF N. C.
RALEIGH, N. C. January 23d, 1866.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 7.

The painful duty devolves upon the Commanding General of announcing to the officers and soldiers of this command the death of Brevet Lieutenant Colonel R. H. Coolige, Surgeon U. S. A., Medical Director of this Department, who died in this city this morning at half past 5 o'clock. Col. Coolidge was one of the oldest Surgeons of the Regular Army, having served in the Medical Corps for more than twenty five years. In his death the country has lost a faithful and devoted patriot; his profession one of its ablest, most useful and zealous members; his family a loving husband and father, and his friends one whose memory they will ever revere as the highest type of a true and noble-minded gentleman.

As a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, officers of the Department Staff will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

By Command of Brevet Major General RUGER:
J. A. CAMPBELL,
Assistant Adjutant General.

A Missouri paper announced a short time since that the "wife crop of Gasconade county yielded 15,000 gals." The next week the editor came out with an "erratum"—for wife read wine.

THE CASE OF GEN. MERCER.—The trial of General Mercer, late of the Confederate army, charged with the murder in shooting seven Union soldiers who had joined the Confederate army, for desertion, was finished at Savannah on Friday last. The testimony is favorable for General Mercer; and, it is believed, he will be acquitted.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, Jan. 23.

The Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Hardie, of the Presbyterian Church.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Mr. Bynum from the Committee on the Judiciary the Provisional Commissioners of Lincolnton and other towns, with a recommendation that ciary reported back the bill to continue in office do pass, without the amendments offered including all the incorporated towns of the State.

Bills, &c., of the titles following were introduced and referred or otherwise ordered, as follows, to-wit:

Mr. Gash, a bill to compel County and Superior Court Clerks and Clerks and Masters in Equity, who do not live in towns, to keep deputies resident within the corporations, &c. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Harris, of Rutherford, a bill to attach the county of Mitchell to the 8th Judicial circuit, and for other purposes. Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. Bynum, a bill to continue in office Clerks and Masters until their successors shall be appointed. Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

The House bill to extend the time for collecting taxes came up, and on motion of Mr. Cowles, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its final reading and was ordered to be enrolled.

The House bill to incorporate the Ministers Relief Society for the Eastern Baptist Association, was filed.

Mr. Aycock submitted a recommendation of sundry citizens of Wayne County, as Justices of the Peace for said County, which was agreed to, and transmitted to the House of Commons.

On motion of Mr. Jones, of Wake, the list of magistrates for the county of Wake, was taken from the table and concurred in.

On motion of the same, the list of magistrates for Perquimans County was taken from the table, amended and transmitted to the House for concurrence.

A message from the House transmitting several additional names as Justices of the Peace for Randolph and Alamance counties, was concurred in.

A message was also received transmitting a series of of resolutions, proposing a joint select committee of two on the part of the Senate, and three on the part of the House, upon the subject of revising all the laws and ordinances passed by the several Legislatures and Conventions of the State, since the day of February, 1861, and further to take into consideration the propriety of holding County Courts once in each month, without jury trials, and as many terms of the Superior Courts as will give speedy relief in all matters, or such other plan as they may approve. The resolutions were concurred in, and Messrs Morehead and Leach, of Davidson, were designated as the Senate branch of the committee.

The bill to limit the number of Justices of the Peace came up, and on motion of Mr. Ferebe, was laid on the table.

The bill to authorize the holding an election for Commissioners of the town of Goldsboro, and for other purposes, came up, and on motion of Mr. Aycock, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its final reading.

The bill to continue in office the Provisional Commissioners of Lincolnton, and other towns, came up and was so amended as to include the towns of Hillsboro', Louisburg, Milton, Kenansville and others, and on motion of Mr. Bynum, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its final reading.

The bill authorizing the Public Treasurer to sell public property was taken up on its second reading and passed.

The House resolution authorizing the publication of 200 copies of the Treasurer's report for the use of the Treasurer, passed its second reading.

Mr. Cowles, after explanation, proposed the reconsideration of the vote, by which the list of magistrates for Yadkin county had been concurred in.

This matter occasioned considerable debate.—As the question was a new one, the chair before giving an opinion, suggested the propriety of its discussion. Messrs. Ferebee and Morehead argued that the case was not beyond the reach of the Senate. Messrs. Wilson and Leach, of Davidson, argued that the case had been settled, and that further action was estopped by the appointment heretofore made.

The chair held that the appointments had passed out of the hands of the Senate, and that the motion was out of order.

Mr. Cowles appealed from the decision of the chair, and the appeal was not sustained.

Mr. Williams moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the decision of the chair had been sustained, and the vote was reconsidered.

On motion, the Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

TUESDAY, Jan. 23.

The House was called to order at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Prayer by Rev. N. B. Cobb, of the Baptist Church.

The journal of yesterday was read and approved.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Webb, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back a resolution, introduced during the last session, relative to arming the militia of the State, and asked a discharge from its further consideration. Committee discharged.

Mr. Manly, from the Judiciary Committee, reported back "a bill to reorganize the government of the town of Newbern;" and "a bill for the further organization of the State government," recommending their passage with amendments.

Mr. Faircloth introduced a resolution to raise a joint committee to revise all laws and ordinances passed since the — day of February, 1861; and also to take into consideration the more thorough re-establishment of the courts. Adopted.

Mr. Smith of Hertford, a resolution authorizing the Secretary of State to have certain of the public records transcribed, re-indexed and rebound, appropriating $500 dollars for this purpose. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Murrill, a bill to restore the jurisdiction of the Courts of Pleas and Quarter sessions in Onslow county. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Mott, a bill to enforce the execution of contracts. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Foster, a bill to incorporate the Porter's Gold Mining Company, in Franklin county.—Referred to the Committee on Corporations.

Mr. Houston, a bill to incorporate Dillwood Cemetry in Guilford county.

Mr. Waugh, a bill to repeal an act decreasing the fees of Sheriffs.

Mr. Flythe, a bill to amend 101st chapter Revised Code—entitled "Roads and Ferries."

Mr. Burgess, a bill to amend the charter of the town of Elizabeth City.

Mr. Lucas, a bill to declare thirteen justices of the peace, a quorum for the transaction of county business in Bladen county.

Mr. Everett presented a list of ninety-six names for appointment as Justices of the Peace for Wayne county—and stated that the list embodied those recommended by the Senator from Wayne and his colleague, Mr. Faircloth.

Mr. Faircloth, of Wayne, objected to the list as containing the names of persons unworthy of such appointment.

Mr. Everett said that he had objected to none of the nominations his colleague had made. He desired specific objections to be made to his list, if his colleague had any such to make. This was due alike to the public and to those who had recommended the parties whose appointment was pending.

The list proposed by Mr. Everett was laid on the table.

Subsequently, a list of nominations of Justices for Wayne county, was received from the Senate and concurred in. This list is identical with that recommended by Mr Faircloth on Saturday last, and then laid on the table.

A number of Justices for other counties were recommended for appointment.

Mr McKay of Harnett, moved the appointment of Messrs. E. L. Pemberton, D. McCormick, A. G Thornton, Hector McMillan, Jas R. Lee and others for the town of Fayetteville.

Messrs Smith and Shaw of Cumberland, objected to these nominations as they deemed the list sufficiently large already.

The House affirmed the nominations.

At eleven o'clock the House proceeded to consider the special order viz: A bill to prohibit for a limited time the distillation of spirituous liquors from grain—on its 2nd reading.

The bill was amended on motion of Mr Jenkins of Warren, by substituting "the 15th of February next, for "the 1st of February" as the time when the penal operation of the bill shall commence.

The bill passed its second reading, and Mr. Hutchinson moved a suspension of the rules that it might be put upon its third reading.

Mr. McAden opposed the suspension—said that important measures like this should not be disposed of so hurriedly. The people of this State had always entertained the idea that they had the right to do as they pleased with their own. The suppression of distilling in the State would put no stop to liquor-drinking. The State would then be supplied by Northern distilleries with inferior beverages, and money, which would otherwise remain here to benefit our own people, would be carried out of the State.

Mr. Jenkins, of Warren, said there was no subject better able to bear heavy taxation than spirituous liquors. He adverted to the growing scarcity of corn from the constant and excessive distillation of grain. Corn already commanded $2 per bushel in Wake county and the price was rising every where. A measure of this character was imperatively demanded by the necessitous condition of our people. The limited grain crop of last year, and the disproportionate cultivation of cotton and tobacco in many sections, necessitated stringent measures for the suppression of distilling.

The House refused to suspend the rules.

The House concurred in a message from the Senate proposing to raise a joint committee to determine whether the session of the General Assembly, ending on the 18th of December last, was, in itself, a complete session.

A bill to prevent obstructions in Catawba River in the county of McDowell, passed its second and third readings.

A bill for the more complete organization of the State government, and for other purposes, was put on its second reading.

The amendments proposed by the Judiciary Committee were adopted and the bill then passed its several readings.

A bill to amend the charter of the town of Newbern, also passed its several readings.

Mr. Donnell, from the commission appointed to prepare a code for the government of Freedmen submitted a report which was ordered to be printed. The report was accompanied by bills with the following titles which were referred to the Joint Committee on Freedmen &c.

1. A bill concerning negroes, Indians and persons of color or of mixed blood.
2. A bill to punish persons pursuing and injuring horses and other live stock, with intent to steal them.
3. A bill to prevent wilful trespasses on lands and stealing any kind of property therefrom.
4. A bill to punish vagrancy.
5. A bill to punish seditious language, insurrections and rebellions in the State.
6. A bill to prevent enticing servants from fulfilling their contracts, or harboring them.
7. A bill to secure to agricultural laborers their pay in kind.
8. A bill more effectually to secure the maintenance of bastard children, and the payment of fines and costs on conviction in criminal cases.
9. A bill to establish work houses, or houses of correction in the several counties of the State.

Mr. Ashworth introduced a resolution in favor of Justices of the Peace who administered the amnesty oath. (Proposing to pay them $2 per diem for their services from the State Treasury.)

Mr McAden moved to amend by substituting the words "United States Treasury" for "State Treasury."

Mr. Ashworth accepted the amendment.

On motion of Mr. Dalby, the resolution was laid on the table.

A message was received from His Excellency the Governor, transmitting the report of the Treasurer of the University, which was sent to the Senate with a proposition to print.

The House then adjourned until 10 o'clock, A. M., to-morrow.

Flourishing.

The Female Academy in this place, which, during the entire period of the late war, flourished and bore aloft the broad pennant of Education, while many, if not all similar Institutions in this State succumbed to the pressure of the times, still "pursues the even tenor of its way," and bids fair soon to surpass the days of its former unequalled prosperity.

We learn that the number of pupils entering its walls since the commencement of the present session is largely in excess of what was expected; that during a week an average of five pupils per day have been received, with the prospect of still further large accessions.

The worthy Principal, and his large and competent corps of instructors, need no better evidence of the high estimation in which this celebrated institution is held, than the constant and large share of patronage which the people of the entire South have heretofore bestowed, and still so generously confer.—Salem Press.

The man that swallows the sword, Professor Wilson, arrived in Fredericksburg Tuesday, "showed" Wednesday, and left Wednesday night without paying his debts. His effects were attached in the hands of the National Express.

The Washington Literary Society of Washington College, Lexington, the oldest College in Virginia, has lost a letter from General Washington to the trustees of the College, which was taken away during the war and never returned.

The granting of pardons has temporarily ceased, owning to the President having directed that no more applications be laid before him until further orders.

For the Sentinel.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—To the American patriot, who feels an interest in the welfare of his country, the present age furnishes a subject for serious contemplation. Never before, in the annals of history, were a people placed in such a position, as we of the South are to-day. Impoverished and defeated, no representation in the national councils, military law brooding over the land, and a press teeming with invectives and abuses of a people it has deceived.

After a bloody and fratricidal war of four long years, unparalelled in the history of nations for its severity and continuous fighting, the South was compelled to yield to superior numbers. The cause she so fondly cherished and so chivalrously contended for is lost, and tho' she yielded her sword with no hypocritical smile, but in good faith, and with a candid and magnanimous intention to reconstruct the Union of our fathers—she cannot cry treason against her gallant Davis, and raise a gallows as a monument to her noble dead. She cherishes with a fond and undying love her noble fallen, and watches, with an anxious and unsleeping eye, the return of her heroes living.

While we of the South accept the right hand of fellowship offered by the conservative people of the North, under the leadership of Voorhees, Pendleton, &c., we cannot ignore our past history. Let America have her whole history, and not in part. We are Americans, and pay the tribute due to the memory of Washington, Jefferson, Calhoun, &c. Let us be candid, and honorable, and settle this difficulty, without cringing to the Radicals of the North, or the cowardly demagogues of the South. Alas! that human nature should be so depraved; that men, who were the most enthusiastic advocates of secession—men who voted the State out of the Union, who were against the yankees with the most sacrilegeous oaths, while success seemed to crown our efforts, should now, when in adversity, have the heart to persecute the agents of a cause they advocated in its incipiency—to gain the favor of the voting party. It is a mean, ignoble, and cowardly act.

Such has been the course of several journals of the South,—but thank God, we can find amongst our friends in the North, men and journals, which will disabuse the minds of the people of such wilful and malicious lies as have been set forth by certain papers, that had not the magnanimity to confess defeat, and await the issue like men; but thought, by abusing their own people, they might win the favor of the North, and be set up as rulers over their unfortunate countrymen. They could not stay the pressure of confiscation, prison, &c., but—"lost to all sense of honor," robed themselves in union blue—and with a curse on their lips for the Confederacy, went about crying Union! Union!! People of the North, can you have confidence in such men as those? If they loved the Union so well, why did'nt they fight for it?

Think not, coward, wit can hide the shame
Of hearts, which, while they dared not strike for fear
Would make it virtue in them to forbear."

Can such men be trusted in the councils of any nation? Would the true Union men of the North wish us to be represented by any such men? The fortunes of this great Republic guided by those men would soon be shipwrecked and eternally lost. The day for weak-kneed statesmen has passed. The times demand that we should have good and true men, "men who know their duty, and knowing dare maintain." The North has been misled in regard to the South, thro' evil designing men on both sides. The truest, and most loyal to the Union now, are those who fought the battles of the Confederacy. They can be trusted, they never desert a cause they espouse, until it is lost. They have determined to reconstruct this Union, if the Northern people will unite with them, and drive Sumner & Co. from the Union battlements, and there erect the flag of '76, in spite of negro suffrage and negro equality. Under the leadership of Andy Johnson, the South may, and wishes to be restored to the Union again, but God grant she may never rise again, if she has to yield to the demands of the twin demons, Sumner and Stevens. I write, Messrs. Editors, as if we were in the Union. I know we are not restored yet, nor will we be, if we depend upon these Radicals. So let us unite and do the best we can, with the conservative men of the North, under the leadership of President Johnson, with heart and soul, and snatch the constitution from the hands of a maddened crew, whose advocates are the worst traitors to the government of the United States that could be conceived of. And mind you, the sentinels of constitutional liberty are on the alert. Voorhees and Pendleton have fired the signal gun, which will marshal, in solid phalanx, irresistible, the true Union men of America.

In conclusion, Messrs. Editors, let us forget the past, and buckle on our armor for a renewed conflict to save the Union from a consolidated negro monarchy. The countrymen of Washington can but weep at the torn and distracted condition of their own sunny South, whose soil has been made red with the blood of her sons, from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. After contending against the combined influence of the world with armies superior in numbers and foreign accessaries at will, for four long and bloody years, she has been forced to surrender the cause she so ardently loved, so chivalrously defended. She presents a spectacle of lofty heroism and Spartan devotion, unparalleled in the history of the world. Though defeated in her cause, an admiring world kneels at the shrine of her chivalry, applauds the genius of her chieftains, and reveres the memory of her noble dead.

Virginia Stay Law.

The following has been proposed in the Virginia Legislature:

Mr. Joynes, from the Committee on Courts of Justice, to whom were referred all the bills, substitutes, and documents relating to the Stay Law, made a lengthy report, accompanied by a bill, which, on motion, was laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

The bill is substantially the same as the one originally reported in December, except it does not prohibit deeds of trust giving preference to one creditor over another, and it excepts a larger number of cases from the operation of the law. The main features of this bill are the same as the other, to wit:

1. The collection of the principal is stayed until January 1. 1868
2. On the 1st January, 1867, and also on the 1st January, 1868, one year's interest is to be paid on the principal of the debt and also upon all interest in arrear on the 1st January, 1866.
3. The statute of limitation is suspended while this law is in force.
4. While the act is in force, creditors may sue, and judgments obtained will bind real estate.

THE SALE OF BANKING HOUSE.—The sale of the Banking House on corner of Craven and Pollock streets took place yesterday, under the hammer of S. S. DUFFY, auctioneer, and Mr. McLean, of the house of HULBERT & McLEAN, became the purchaser at $9,075, on a gold basis. This was considered a very fair price for the property and will no doubt form a criterian or guide in fixing prices in the future.—Newbern Times.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

ADVERTISEMENTS.—Joseph J. Davis, Esq., of Louisburg, as Executor of Jno. Neal, deceased, offers 1500 bushels of Cotton Seed, "Extra Prolific," for sale.

O. G. Parsley & Co., of Wilmington, announce another attractive importation of new crop Cardenas molasses.

By resolutions passed in the two branches of the Legislature, the Ministers of the Gospel in this city, have been invited to open the daily sessions with prayer.

This exercise will be attended in the following order:

Monday	Rev. Mr.	Atkinson	both Houses.
Tuesday	" "	Cobb,	" "
Wednesday	" "	Branson	Ho. Rep's.
"	" "	Hardie,	Senate.
Thursday	"	Dr. Mason,	both houses.
Friday	"	" Smedes,	"
Saturday	"	Mr. Hudson,	"

INK.—Mr. J. R. Congleton, of this city, is manufacturing a beautiful article of writing ink, which he will guarantee. He can supply orders to any extent, at prices as low as can be found any where. This ink is not injured by freezing.—We are indebted to him for a bottle and find it excellent.

DISTRESSING.—We learn that Mr. J. H. Buffaloe, of this County, was accidently shot on yesterday morning, by one of his sons, while they were out hunting. The wound though severe is not thought to be dangerous.

LOUISBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.—We learn that the first session of this institution is opening very favorably.

Weldon.

The following is from a correspondent of the Norfolk Virginian:

We are again in direct communication with your city, save the bridge across the Roanoke, which massive structure was destroyed by our forces at the evacuation, on the eve of General Lee's surrender, but which is rapidly progressing to completion. This rupture is a great drawback to both communities, as none but light freight is transported across the river. The banks of the river are so steep that it is impracticable to manage heavy freight.

Weldon has long been noted for the terminus of four great railroads, and the great thoroughfare from the North to the South. Admirably situated for a place of business, and possessing unsurpassed natural facilities for water power, it has often been asked why a large city has not been built up. There has been too much of the spirit of Rip Van Winkle manifested by the landed proprietors, who have, when parties wished to purchase property and invest capital, demanded prices far beyond the value, and thus driven enterprise to other sections. We are glad to see that a diff rent state of things is dawning, and that old fogyism is dying out. A number of our leading and influential citizens have organized themselves into an association called the "Weldon Enterprise," and have petitioned the Legislature for a charter, with a capital of $25,000, and that it may be increased to $100,000.

The purpose of this company is to build residences, and places of business, to meet the great demand. Such is the want of houses that rents are higher than even in your city, and scarcely a day passes but enquiry is made for a house. The following are the officers of this new company: R. W. Daniel, President; J. B Tilghman, Treasurer; B. W. Spilman, Secretary; J. T. Evans, Superintendent; W. A. Daniel, W. T. Whitfield, J T. Gooch, Alfred Mabry and John Farrell, Directors. The sum of $13,000 has already been subscribed, and we feel perfectly assured that the required amount will be raised.—We hope, in a few years, to see our population, which is now over 200, as many thousand. The present condition of labor is yet unsatisfactory and unreliable. But few of our planters have employed labor for the present year. Some have made arrangements with their former slaves, to give them one third of the proceeds of the crops, furnishing teams, materials and provisions.—Others have employed labor at ten to twelve dollars per month; yet many have made no arrangements. Even those who have entered into contracts with the negro have but little confidence that they will be observed by him. H.

Radicalism cannot sustain itself except upon the assumption that the Union has been broken—and broken by secession. Thaddeus Stevens' position that the Southern States are "conquered provinces" because the general Government recognized and treated them "as belligerents" is but a trick of logic, and amounts to nothing.—The whole question refers to the right of secession. If the Southern States had not the right to secede, and the war was urged to keep them in the Union, and to demonstrate that the right of secession did not exist, and the North closed all argument by complete success and indubitable victory, it is idle for the North, just to gain negro suffrage, to maintain that though it gained the victory, it failed in the demonstration. If the Southern States had not the right to secede, the Northern States had no right to let them secede. They did not let them. They fought to retain them in the Union, and succeeded.

Nine months after our surrender we are gravely told that we seceded. The very men who say this are the men who hold it a desecration of language to call the war a war, but always speak of it as "the rebellion," and who base all their measures for our government upon the postulate that we were "rebels."

The President took a sensible and straightforward course. Under the war power, and as Commander-in-chief, he held that while the Southern States were still portions of the Union, their rights as States must lie in abeyance until they should purge themselves of disloyalty, abstain from all opposition to the Government, take the oath of amnesty, support the Constitution and laws, and obey the constituted authorities of the nation. Negro suffrage was not enjoined by the Constitution or by any law. The elective franchise is left by the Constitution to the several States as a domestic affair not to be interfered with; and in the exercise of this power all the thirty-six States, except four, (where there are scarcely any negroes,) have denied suffrage to the negroes. The President, therefore, did not, and, consistently with the Constitution, could not make this a condition, or hold it as a test of loyalty.

The Radicals do; and they demand that the Southern States shall not take their places in the Union until the Constitution shall be so amended as to compel negro suffrage in the Southern States, and to compel various other things that they desire to accomplish. It must here be borne in mind that the Southern States will be required to participate in the adoption of such amendments—for they cannot be carried without them. To say nothing of the duress imposed upon them, the absurdity will be presented of their being allowed, nay, required to participate in the highest function of sovereign political power—the amendment of the organic law—the Constitution, while they are denied representation in Congress and prevented from exercising the subordinate function of aiding in the adoption of ordinary measures of legislation. They can make constitutions but cannot make laws. When the Radicals cannot accomplish their ends without us, and desire to make use of us, we are in the Union. But when our co-operation is not needed, they tell us very coolly either that "the rebellion is not yet put down," or that we are "conquered provinces"—whichever best serves their purpose at the time. Doctor Johnson excelled as a lexicographer. All remember his definition of "pensioner." We shudder to think what would be his definition of "Radical," as it at present exists in American politics.—Richmond Whig.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.]

THE HOUSE NEGRO SUFFRAGE BILL—ITS PASSAGE IN THE SENATE A FOREGONE CONCLUSION—SPECULATION AS TO THE ACTION OF THE PRESIDENT—RIGHTS OF COLORED VOTERS TO SIT ON JURIES AND HOLD OFFICES.

Much speculation prevails in regard to the ultimate fate of the free negro suffrage bill of the House. That it will pass the Senate is a foregone conclusion. It will pass the Senate as it comes from the House by a decided majority. I notice that some shrewd politicians hold out the idea that President Johnson will veto it. They assume this as a matter of policy, because they are unwilling to suffer the impression to be made on the public mind that the President is really to co operate with the radical majority in Congress—perhaps also a temporary power, which at the next elections may be overthrown. Many others believe that the President will sign the bill upon the consideration that the District is not a State, but is placed under the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress, which body has the right to legislate for the District in every particular.

Lawyers here differ in opinion as to the legal effect of the bill which has passed Congress upon the rights of the black and colored voters to sit on juries and to hold offices. One of the most eminent Senators holds that when the law shall take effect, the freedmen voters must be admitted to serve on juries, and are also eligible to any corporation office. In the event of a close election between two candidates for the mayoralty, the negro vote will hold the balance and as to the councils, compromises may be made by which one-third of the members may be blacks or mulattoes. But a Congress which has pressed this matter of negro equality so far will not hesitate to press it further.

THE SENATE TO PASS THE NEGRO SUFFRAGE BILL—A PROBABLE VETO BY THE PRESIDENT—THE RADICAL ISSUE NORTH AND SOUTH.

Prominent Radical Senators, much to my surprise, say that the House negro suffrage bill will pass the Senate like a flash. An inside Republican says the only amendments they will make to it will be provisions in the way of penalties for keeping negroes from the polls, and things of that sort. The latter is a coldly ironical view, with probably too much of the spirit of truth in it. I believe the President will veto the House bill, if it comes to him, and I have no idea that the requisite two-thirds vote could be got in the Senate, if, indeed, in the House, to make it a law under Constitutional provisions.

The Radicals seem intent on making negro suffrage general, North and South. If they are defeated in respect to this District, then their bitterness will be augmented against the South and reconstruction. They feel confident about carrying the elections by the howl they can set up to the effect that if the Southern members are admitted, they, with the Democrats, will go in for repudiation of the National debt. Col. Forney announces that the "issue is made up for the country by the passage of the negro suffrage bill for the Senate. Mr. Wade made it a National issue."

Colonization of Freedmen.

Colonel Osborn, Assistant Commissioner of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, &c., for the district of Florida, has submitted a plan to Major Howard for the consideration of the Government for the colonizing freedmen in Florida. He suggests that the United States purchase from Florida all that portion of the State below the 28th degree of latitude and give it a territorial form of government. None but freedmen to be permitted to buy or pre empt land, and each of a family to have eighty acres. By his calculation the portion of the State in question contains 600 townships, or 21,500 square miles, without including rivers, lakes and swamps. There are 400 townships having an area of 15,400 square miles, or about 9,000,000 acres, suitable for settlement and cultivation, which would accommodate 115,000 families, giving to each a homestead of eighty acres.—Star.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.

The Times Brownsville correspondence says. Cortinas occupies Bagpad with 200 men. It is understood that Gen. Weitzel disapproves of the action of our officers in the recapture of Bagdad. All the heavy ordnance has been ordered from Brazos to Brownsville. Preparations of a belligerent character continue, both at Brownsville and Matamoras.

The Ranchero says, Canallo had issued a proclamation to his soldiers, advising them to submit to Imperial authority, rather than unite in fillibustering expeditions with Yankees.

Large numbers of colored troops are being mustered out. Orders have been received to muster out nearly of all Gen. Clarke's command on the Rio Grande. Four companies of colored troops were performing provost duty at Bagdad. No one allowed to leave the town without a pass.

Desirable Location for a Physician.

HAVING DETERMINED TO ENGAGE IN OTHER business, which will require all my time and attention, I offer an excellent location in the village of Commonsville, Davidson Co., N. C. with a large practice, to any respectable physician who is not now permanently located. The location can be secured by the purchase of an elegantly arranged brick office with two rooms, and the lot upon which it is located, which I will sell for $600 cash. I have, also, a stock of medicines on hand which I will dispose of. A good dwelling-house can be purchased convenient to the office if desired. The village has a flourishing school, affords a pleasant residence, and is situated in a fine agricultural region, two miles from the Yadkin river, 11 miles west of Salem and 18 north of Lexington. CIRCULAR.

TO THE PUBLIC:

The undersigned has now ready for the press a volume, the result of the incubrations of many years, entitled a "Short Treatise on Chronology in General, and especially on Classical Chronology." The work is not intended to be a chronological chart, nor yet a collection of dates and synchronistic tables. The author's aim has been to prepare a "Horn Book" of Chronology, containing the leading principles, laws and facts of that science.

THE FIRST part treats of measuring time and adjusting its various divisions; the SECOND of fixing dates of historical events and arranging them in order; and the THIRD, of miscellaneous matters important to the chronologist.

UNDER THE FIRST DIVISION are discussed the day, the week, the month, the year and certain cycles used in computing the civil calendar and preparing the Almanac; the origin, history, nature, character, and various sub-divisions of each, especially among the ancients.

UNDER THE SECOND DIVISION the methods of ascertaining the dates or the time when they occurred; the actual dates of some important eras whose epochs are disputed; the most important epochs and eras which have been employed at different times and by different nations, including these which are still in use; and the actual dates of the most prominent events in classical chronology.

UNDER THE THIRD AND LAST DIVISION are considered the epochs and eras of less importance; a sketch of the chronology of India and of China; the principles of the art of mnemotechny as applied to dates, and the different systems of that art which have been propounded.

The author believes that a work successfully executed upon this plan, though it may not contain very much that is new, cannot but be useful and profitable, not only to the reading public, but also to the youth of our country, in the acquisition of classical and historical learning: and HISTORY will be the STUDY of this age; it must always be the study of thoughtful men in times of revolution and great political changes, such as our country is at present undergoing

The contributions of North Carolina, and of the Southern States of the Union generally, to American literature, have heretofore been few, and for the most part, worthless. A few works of fiction and some fugitive poems include our past efforts; and with the excellent Latin Grammar, and the edition of Cæsar's Commentaries, prepared for the press by Col. Bingham—works the very best of their character which have ever fallen under our observation, and which, under more favorable circumstances, will yet win for their author that high reputation in his profession which his merits—our contributions to USEFUL LITERATURE are of the very humblest character. Under such circumstances this book is, with some confidence, presented for public patronage.

The author proposes to publish by subscription. The cost of publication will be fifteen hundred dollars or more. The book contains about two hundred and fifty 12 mo. pages. It will be brought out in the best style of one of our best American publishers, as to type, paper and binding. The cost of single copies delivered will be $2 50.

Persons desiring to subscribe can communicate with the undersigned at Raleigh, but subscription lists will be opened at various places of business in Raleigh and other towns in the State. Subscriptions will be required in cash as essential to the success of the enterprise. Editors who will give this Circular a few insertions and forward a copy of their papers containing it to the author, will be furnished with a copy of the book

The volume will be placed in the hands of the publisher as soon as the author's success is at all assured and will be issued to subscribers a few weeks thereafter.

PROSPECTUS

COSMOPOLITE.

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE WILL commence the publication in the City of Baltimore, of a monthly

Literary Magazine.

There is no publication of this character now issued South of New York City, and the closing of the war has left a large portion of the people of the country with no literary representative.

The COSMOPOLITE will be devoted to

Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

All matter in original will be carefully selected from the newest and best of the English, French and German publications; and its Editors will pursue no effort or expense to make it rank with the VERY FIRST magazines of the country

As its name imports we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon a cosmopolitan basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone, and will be influenced by no party or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country, payable as follows:

Subscription:

Single Copies for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	8 0
Ten copies for one year,	15 00

☞ The COSMOPOLITE will be generally distributed among the societies and planters of the South, and we will add, for their information, a few advertisements at moderate rates

☞ Liberal deductions will be made to booksellers and wholesale.

☞ Newspapers publishing this prospectus and sending a marked copy to the undersigned, will receive a copy of the magazine, gratis.

PROSPECTUS.

THE public are informed that

The North Carolina Presbyterian

will be resumed in Fayetteville, on Wednesday, the 2nd of January next.

Confidently relying on the hearty support which we have heretofore received, we shall endeavor to render the paper more attractive, both in appearance and matter, than it has ever been, sparing neither pains or expense in the accomplishment of this purpose.

With the passing away of old things, a new spirit of activity, energy and enterprise, has been infused into every department of secular thought and business. Why should not the Church, also, partake of the progressive advancement? Why should she, of all the agencies brought to bear with such tremendous force upon the civilization of the present time, be inefficient, laggard and almost hopeless in the working out of her own destiny?

To arouse the church to the importance and necessity of work; of unceasing, restless, tireless energy in the service of her Master and Head; this shall be our first and chief aim. In this we need assistance. We are not, alone, sufficient for these things. Our brethren must help us in every way; by contributions from the rich own stores of thought and study; by zealous co-operation in a common cause, for the benefit of all; by extending our circulation throughout all our borders, and thus giving us the means and the opportunity of performing well the work to which we have consecrated all that we have, and all we hope for on earth.

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

Dearth of Cotton.

If anything can obstruct the gradual march of the country in its career of prosperity and power, it will be the neglect and decline of our cotton product. A continued dearth of this product will be felt injuriously by all our interests, political and financial, foreign and domestic. A revival and extension of the cotton culture is necessary for the maintenance of our public credit. Without it we cannot expect an early return to a specie standard. With it our Government securities will rise to par, and without it they are worth but seventy cents in the dollar.

The New York Chamber of Commerce, having considered the expediency of a cotton-growers' convention, determined wisely that the cotton-growing interest must be left to the care of individual enterprise, stimulated, as it will be, by high profits.

It is believed, however, that, in the most hopeful view that can be taken of the cotton product of 1866, such a dearth of cotton will be experienced this year as to raise the price before next September to a dollar a pound. The Government so far inclines to this belief that it has suspended the sales of captured cotton in New York.

Egypt, Brazil, and the East Indies will not afford much relief to the cotton market during this and subsequent years, for reasons that are well understood. In Egypt the culture was carried to such an extent, under the prompting of rising prices, that it seriously interfered with the produce of grain. The scarcity and cost of breadstuffs become so great that the culture of cotton has been prohibited. In Brazil the cotton culture caused a neglect of the growth of coffee, the chief staple of that region, and is therefore so unprofitable as to be to a great extent abandoned. In India, notwithstanding the vast sums expended in the promotion of the production and transportation of cotton, the effort has not proved a success as to quantity or quality.

We must therefore turn again to the cotton fields of the United States for a supply of the indispensable staple.

The cotton report of Messrs. Neil, Brothers & Co., New Orleans, for December 30, 1865, contains important suggestions and estimates as to the cotton supply on hand, and the product to be expected for the year 1866.

They estimate the total supply of old and new cotton for 1865 at two millions and one hundred thousand bales, which exceeds by a large sum the estimate made by Mr. McCulloch. The Memphis Commercial scans the New Orleans estimate, and reduces it to seventeen hundred thousand bales. The receipts at all the ports and forwarded North amount to one million three hundred thousand new bales, and while some districts are exhausted, others are being opened as the rivers rise.

As to the product of the present year, after a personal survey of the cotton-growing region and a consideration of the labor question as it presents itself under different aspects and in different plans, Messrs. Neil & Co., give the following estimate:

Estimated Supply of Cotton for 1866—7, [September till September.)

N. and S. Carolina,	80,000 to 100,000	bales.
Georgia and Florida,	150,000 to 200,000	"
Mobile	300,000 to 350,000	"
New Orleans	550,000 to 650,000	"
Texas (proper)	170,000 to 200,000	"
Memphis and North	250,000 to 300,000	"
	1,500,000 to 1,800,000	"

Thus it will be seen that we only anticipate from 230,000 to 300,000 bales from the Atlantic States and Florida, and as much as 1,300,000 to 1,500,000 from the great Southwest. At least such were the indications in the several States at the times of our visits to each, and we give the figures for what they are worth. If the prospects have since improved materially in the Atlantic States, we have not yet satisfactory evidence of the fact, although we think it not improbable that they will improve.

The Memphis Commercial, in commenting on this estimate, gives reasons for the opinion that it is somewhat exaggerated, and expresses the belief that the entire product will not exceed a million and a quarter of bales.

The Macon (Ga.) Journal of the 10th instant takes a hopeful view of the subject, as follows:

Cotton is once more financial king, and, as of yore, all eyes turn southward for the great financial remedy.

Let us deduce from the facts one plain lesson. The wealth of Southern soil must and will be developed. It cannot be permitted to lie idle.—The safety and prosperity of every financial interest of this vast country is pledged to the production of large cotton crops, and they must be forthcoming. It they cannot be produced by free negro labor, then some other will be brought into requisition, and the colored idlers must stand aside. The present is an experimental year. The North will await the development of their favorite theory, that free negro labor must be more effective than slave labor. If it fails, capital, ingenuity, and enterprise will exhaust themselves, if necessary, in supplying the deficiency.

No man, therefore, give in to the idea that the value of his cotton lands is altogether dependent upon the success of the free negro problem. On the contrary, the deficiency of the crop may correspondingly stimulate prices, and the high prices, reacting upon the rage for production, backed by a large influx of Northern capital, may well push up the value of open cotton lands in the South to a point unknown in previous history.—Nat. Intelligencer.

Mr. Doolittle on Reconstruction.

Senator Doolittle, of Wisconsin, lately made a speech in support of President Johnson's reconstruction policy, from which we quote the following:

We must stand on one side, supporting the Lincoln and Johnson policy, or we must take our stand with the Senator from Massachusetts on the other. Mr. Lincoln's policy received the unqualified approbation of every member of his cabinet, and every day up to his assassination he was more inveterably convinced of its right and justice. On the return of peace the army should be withdrawn, the sword should be returned to its scabbard. On all governments on the face of the globe, the military government was the worst. It was the concentrated essence of despotism. All that the President had done was done by authority of the laws of Congress, and not in derogation of them.

It has been said that this Congress could annul laws passed by its predecessor, and technically speaking, it possibly might, but would it be right and acting in good faith after the preceding States had submitted to the laws already in force. If we now direct the President to withdraw the terms of pacification he has offered, and which have been accepted, if we carry out the spirit of this resolution, we shall be in the wrong, we shall falsify our pledges of devotion to the Union. The people of the South have been so humbled and prostrated by this war that they will bear almost anything before again appealing to arms. But, in his judgment, if anything could induce them so to do, this would.—It would turn the North into a community of slave owners, with the Southern people as their slaves. To hold them thus would require the presence of a large standing army, which would undermine our republican institutions and pave the way for an empire. It would subject us to intolerable expense, and affect our national credit most disastrously at home and abroad.—Peace we must have, it is essential to our very life. To acknowledge the right of a State to secede or the right of Congress to expel it, would be fatal to the perpetuity of our government. Every law we passed, every blow we struck, every shot we fired, every drop of blood we shed, was not to put the States out of the Union, but to keep them in forever. His colleague claimed to represent the voice of the people of Wisconsin, but he was confident, from the tone of the Union Convention, and the sentiments of his constituents, that such was not the fact.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

WE STILL CONTINUE TO SELL BOOKS AND Stationery, and all other goods in our line. We cannot sell at cost. If we do so, we shall be unable to buy other goods. We have been trading in our line for several years. Our friends have always patronized us largely, for which we are thankful. We have always tried to make a living profit on our Goods, and at the same time to give entire satisfaction to our customers. We intend still to follow the same rule, which we think fair and honorable. Such books as we do not have on hand we will order for our friends.

Among our late arrivals we have Methodist Hymn Books, Episcopal Prayer Books, Illustrated Children's Books in great variety, Photographs of Southern Generals, and Photograph Albums.

We have also a great variety of Common and Fine Bibles and Testaments. Also a large variety of sheet Music.

We try to keep all School Books wanted by Teachers, to whom we sell at a liberal discount.

Call and examine our stock before buying elsewhere.

We are prepared to do the best BOOK BINDING in the neatest style at short notice.

We want to trade with our friends for years to come, hence we will sell as cheap as we can under the circumstances.

Desirable Farm for Sale.

THE PLANTATION SITUATED ABOUT TWO and a half miles from the village of Magnolia on the Wilmington and Weldon R. R. between Rocky Point and Kenansville, and known as "Burbage," is offered for sale. The tract contains 360 acres, 160 of which are cleared and have been under cultivation, producing excellent Corn, Wheat, potatoes, &c. A portion of the land is as well adapted to the culture of cotton. An inexhaustible bed of Marl, a large spring of as good water as can be found in the State, and a never failing stream, running through the center of the cleared land are among the attractions of the place.

The timbered portion of the land being nearest the Rail Road and the entire place being easy of access to a first rate market make it a highly desirable location for growing produce, raising stock and selling timber. Any one having the cash, can procure a bargain by applying immediately to

BOOK AND JOB PRINTING.

THE UNDERSIGNED RESPECTFULLY announce to the public that they have formed a copartnership for the purpose of carrying on the BOOK AND JOB PRINTING BUSINESS, in all its branches.

Each member of the firm is a practical printer, and, with an experience of twenty years each, they confidently appeal to the people of their native State for a liberal share of patronage.

They have one of the Largest Printing Establishments
in the State and execute their own work which for neatness and cheapness cannot be excelled in the South.

The senior member of the firm has been for a number of years Superintendent of the Printing office of the Deaf and Dumb and Blind which has always sustained a high reputation for neat and tasty printing.

They are prepared to execute, at short notice,
Visiting,
